American River College's Sign Language Program was established over 25 years ago and is one of only 12 postsecondary programs in California that grant degrees in sign language studies and/or interpreting. The Sign Language Studies Program begins with a two-year study of a second language, American Sign Language (ASL), the primary language of Deaf people. This language foundation will help to prepare you to communicate and work with deaf and hard of hearing people. The degree or certificate provides sequential course work leading to employment in the fields of education, human services or business at the paraprofessional level.

Courses offered include four semesters of ASL, as well as studies in interaction with deaf people; while learning a second language, you will also study the deaf community and the culture of deaf people. Upon completion of certain sign language courses, you may enroll in the Interpreting Training Program, a more advanced degree or certificate program. After an additional four semesters of study, students earn an interpreting degree or certificate. Other Sign Language Studies majors transfer to universities where they concentrate on careers such as teaching, social work, counseling, etc. Others may opt for employment as a teacher's aide, independent living attendant or dormitory houseparent.

Career Opportunities

Because of the complex and diverse needs of deaf and hard of hearing people, opportunities for employment are varied.

There is a great need for skilled and qualified sign language interpreters in educational and social service agencies, and students have been able to develop career-track positions that provide services to the deaf community.

As our interpreting students begin their careers they can pursue specialization in areas such as educational, social services, legal, employment and medical.

To find out more about the field of sign language interpreting, visit the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf web site at www.RID.org.

General Education Graduation Requirements: In addition to completing the degree requirements, students must also complete the general education graduation requirements for an AA/AS degree. See ARC graduation requirements.
